Subject: FREE ArcGIS 10.1 training course: April 23-24

The Kachemak Bay Research Reserve is pleased to announce the following:

ArcGIS 10.1 Training Course

April 23-24, 2013 from 8:30 am to 4:30 pm

Alaska Islands and Ocean Visitor Center, Auditorium Room

Homer, AK

Registration: free!

Instructor: Jason Graham, Alaska Dept Fish and Game, GIS Analyst

Overview

This two-day course introduces fundamental concepts and updated features for ArcGIS 10.1, and builds upon introductory GIS topics already learned. The course will focus on advanced user topics, such as creating and administering file geo-databases, spatial analysis techniques, as well as other geoprocessing tools. You will understand the range of ArcGIS 10.1 functionality, and be prepared to work on your own with geographic data and perform GIS analysis. In addition to lectures and demonstrations, the course incorporates exercises and class discussion to reinforce concepts learned in lecture.

Topics you will learn:

- ArcGIS tools and functionality
- Geodatabase management
- Basic analysis techniques
- Python, Model Builder, Spatial Analyst
- Making & working with bathymetry maps
- Special topics – ArcPad integration

Course Requirements:

There are no specific prerequisites for this course, but it is recommended for those interested to have basic GIS knowledge. Individuals will be using their own laptops capable of running ArcGIS trial version software (provided by the instructor before the course).

Course Instructor:

Jason Graham, GIS Analyst II, ADF&G

Jason has been a cartographer for Alaska Dept Fish & Game for 10 years. His primary rolls are with the Anadromous waters catalog and the sport fish regulation books. He also serves on the technical committee for the statewide data mapping initiative, and works on many projects located throughout the state.

Spaces in this course are limited. Please visit our website now to register. Registration closes April 17. The instructor will be in contact with you before the training to provide the trial software to be installed on your laptop.
